

Remember

- Name a psychologist who worked within this perspective.

Remember

- State two important terms used by psychologists in this perspective.

Remember

- Name a perspective that came before this one historically.

Remember

- Name a perspective that came after this one historically.

Remember

- Name a research method used by psychologists in this perspective.

Remember

- Give a reference for a study from within this perspective.

Understand

- Explain one assumption of this perspective.

Understand

- Outline one theory from this perspective.

Understand

- Describe one study from this perspective.

Understand

- Summarize one psychologist's contribution to this perspective.

Understand

- Explain one concept from this perspective.

Understand

- Describe one principle or rule from this perspective.

Apply

- How might this perspective explain why someone smokes?

Apply

- How might this perspective explain why someone is shy?

Apply

- How might this perspective explain why a person becomes mentally ill?

Apply

- How might psychologists from this perspective investigate smoking?

Apply

- How might psychologists from this perspective investigate shyness?

Apply

- How might psychologists from this perspective investigate mental illness?

Analyse

- Explain where this perspective stands on the nature-nurture debate.

Analyse

- Explain where this perspective stands on the freedom-determinism debate.

Analyse

- Explain one similarity between this perspective and another perspective.

Analyse

- Explain one difference between this perspective and another perspective.

Analyse

- Explain whether psychologists from this perspective would use experiments.

Analyse

- Explain whether psychologists from this perspective would use animals in their research.

Evaluate

- Outline one strength of this perspective.

Evaluate

- Outline one weakness of this perspective.

Evaluate

- Describe a useful real life application of this perspective.

Evaluate

- Explain one contribution this perspective has made to psychology.

Evaluate

- Suggest how its preferred methods weaken this perspective.

Evaluate

- Outline one way in which this perspective is either superior or inferior to another perspective.

