

Dear Deirdre,

Please help me, my friends keep laughing at me because of my latest boyfriend. I don't understand

why, they have even started calling us Tweedle Dumb and Tweedle Dim We both enjoy collecting miniature thimbles and train spotting; we have matching anoraks and flasks. Last week we went to a 'Trekkie' convention dressed as Spock, we get on so perfectly well but why did I pick a man so like me in every way when all I ever wanted was Brad Pitt?

Yours,

Confused in Coventry

Your task is to tell Confused why she is so attracted to her boyfriend. You have to do this using the Matching Hypothesis of attraction.